

ROBBERS' ERROR WAS VERY COSTLY

BANDITS LOSE RICH BOOTY BY A BLUNDER.

Forget the Express Car — Holdup Of a Northern Pacific Passenger Crew Near Moorhead, N. D. — Registered Mail and a Small Sum of Money Stolen.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 27.—The Northern Pacific passenger from the east was held up and robbed at 2 o'clock Sunday morning about three miles east of Moorhead.

The robbery was the costliest piece of criminal work in the history of the valley. Engineer Hooker, just after pulling out of Glyndon, noticed a masked man on the front platform of the mail car. A few moments later the man climbed over the tender of the engine under cover of two revolvers. He compelled the engineer to stop the train, threatening to shoot if he refused.

Several minutes afterward three other masked men came to the front end of the train with Conductor Corcoran and a brakeman. All were compelled to mount the engine and Engineer Hooker was ordered to open the throttle.

The men with revolvers sat on the end of the tender and with the weapons leveled urged the engineer to increase the speed. Not until the train reached Moorhead was it known to the crew that the engine and mail car had been cut off from the other section of the train. The hold-up was not profitable to the robbers. They had evidently intended to take the express car, but did not cut deep enough in the train. When a stop was made to secure the plunder the leader of the gang discovered the mistake and exclaimed: "Where is the express car?"

Finding that they had left it behind, the robbers ordered the mail men out of the car and went through the mail.

All registered letters were taken, and $20 was secured from Conductor Corcoran.

Immediately on the arrival of the engine at Moorhead Sheriff Bodkin of Clay county and Sheriff Wilson of Cass county organized a posse and started in pursuit of the robbers, but although the entire country surrounding was covered, no trace of the criminals could be found.

THE CLOSING GAMES.

Scores of the Final Contests for the National League Pennant.

Both sides are confident of winning the great game of the base ball season to-day. It will be played on the Baltimore grounds, and the Boston, now but one point behind in the race, will be the opponents of the champions. Should the Boston lose the game, it is unlikely they will win the pennant. Their chances are remarkably bright if defeat falls to the lot of the Baltimoreans.

MADRID CIRCLES MUCH DISTURBED

RUMORS AS TO GEN. WOODFORD'S WITHDRAWAL.

Bitterness of the Press—Claim There Is To Be An "Ostentatious" Declaration to the World That the United States Disapproves of the Cuban Regime.

Madrid, Sept. 27.—The arrival of United States Minister Woodford from San Sebastian has made a sensation. The program of the United States has been ascertained. This does not contemplate a declaration of war if Spain rejects mediation, but, according to report, an "ostentatious" proclamation to the world of disapproval of the Cuban regime by suspending diplomatic relations with Spain and withdrawing the United States minister.

Gen. Woodford has declined to be interviewed on the subject further than to say that his conference with the Duke of Tetuan, the foreign minister, was of the most satisfactory character.

The unexpected bitterness of the press and of public opinion has painfully impressed him, but he hopes this will soon be allayed, as he believes his mission favorable to Spanish interests and cannot comprehend that Spain could reject mediation designed to end an impoverishing war. He has not named a time at which the war must be terminated, but he hopes, as the result of his tenders, that it will be ended quickly. He believes the war is inflicting incalculable loss upon the United States, and that it is impossible to prevent the organization of filibustering expeditions.

Unusual measures were taken to protect Minister Woodford on his journey from San Sebastian to this city, but the trip was quite uneventful. The drive through the streets was marked by no special incident, though several persons saluted him, receiving a bow in return.

Some comment has been caused by the fact that Minister Woodford's family has not accompanied him, but remains behind the French frontier. Minister Woodford explains that his party is a large one, requiring a commodious home, and prefers spending a pleasant October at Biarritz until a suitable residence can be secured here. The legation cannot be used as a residence.

SPAIN MAY ACCEPT IT.

United States Has a Chance of Arranging Cuban Peace.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Spain may accept the good offices of the United States as to Cuba after all. A member of the administration, who is known to have been in conference with officials of the Spanish legation here, said last night there was now at least a fair prospect that Spain would accept our tender of help.

At the time Minister Woodford was sent to Madrid it was believed by the state department that Spain would reject our offer. Now the prevailing belief is that Spain will accept, if not fully, at least sufficiently to afford a basis for future negotiations.

Search for a Murderous Tramp. Coldwater, Mich., Sept. 27.—Posses are searching all parts of this region for a tramp who assaulted and robbed Mrs. Verne Smith at noon Sunday near this city. Edward Robinson, a young neighbor, who attempted to capture the robber, has but little if any chance for recovery. He was shot just above the heart, the ball going through his body and coming out at his back. Mrs. Verne Smith lies at the point of death in a neighbor's house.

Reports come from California and Kinderhook that several parties from these places are searching the woods and fields and guarding every road. Escape is deemed impossible.

Hibernians Talk of Insurance. Joliet, Ill., Sept. 27.—The committee appointed by the state board of the Ancient Order of Hibernians to consider the proposition to establish an insurance branch in the order in this state at a meeting of the board has recommended a plan. It was decided to present the same to the next state convention to be held in Peoria next May. If favorably considered by that body it is proposed to join with other states and urge the national convention in Boston to adopt a national plan of insurance.

Condemn Sunday Desecration. Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 27.—Sunday newspapers and Sunday bicycle riders for pleasure have been condemned by the Indiana conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. Princeton, Gibson county, has been chosen as the place of meeting next year. The city of Paoli, Orange county, has proposed to the conference that if it will make the site of the mineral springs near that town the permanent place of meeting eight acres of land will be donated. The proposition has been taken under consideration.

Believe It a Case of Suicide. Chicago, Sept. 27.—The body of Lewis E. Hill, teller of the Ellicott Square bank of Buffalo, was found in the Chicago river yesterday morning. He had been missing eight days, and is believed by many in Buffalo to have been short in his accounts $2,000. This, however, is denied by the bank officials.

THE YELLOW FEVER IS DIMINISHING

SOUTH NO LONGER IN FEAR OF AN EPEDEMIC.

Few Deaths Are Reported—Many New Cases to Deal With, But the Patients as a Rule Make a Rapid Recovery—Twenty Three Stricken at Edwards.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 27.—Sunday was the quietest of the week in New Orleans and the fever situation, in spite of the appearance of a rather large number of new cases, may be said to have shown much improvement. Fifteen cases were recorded on the books of the board of health, but there was no death, and there have been no deaths since Friday.

At the Oakland park detention camp all the refugees who have been given quarters were declared to be well, no sickness having yet appeared in the camp.

Mrs. A. McCubbage died in Ocean Springs of yellow fever. She had been sick for several days and her case had already been reported. There have been no new cases at Ocean Springs. Reports from the detention camp say that ten refugees from New Orleans have arrived there and eighteen from Biloxi. There is no sickness in the camp save one case of sciatic rheumatism. The patients in the hospital, a mile away from the camp, are recovering.

Entire Town Stricken. Edwards, Miss., Sept. 27.—New cases Sunday, 23; total cases to date, 176; deaths for the day, 1; total deaths to date, 7. A new case developed at Champion Hill is a serious one. Only three or four cases are considered serious and these are receiving the best of attention at the hands of experienced nurses.

WORK AMONG THE MINERS.

Agents of the United Workers Talking With the Western Men.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 27.—Local labor leaders say twelve organizers of the United Mine Workers of America have been put to work among the coal miners of the territory between the Rocky mountains and the Mississippi river and will spend the rest of the year in trying to get all of the coal diggers of the territory closely organized for the struggle that will come Jan. 1 if there is not another adjustment of prices by the mine operators at that time.

These head workers in the organization are of the opinion another struggle will come at that time, and the work of getting ready to stop all coal mining will be carefully planned so it can be done if it is considered necessary at that time.

Hutchens, defaulting sub-agent for the United States Express Company, who disappeared leaving a note that he would drown himself in Lake Michigan at Chicago, has been captured by the express company's detectives, who found him at his old home in Lowell, Ind., and brought him here. He had confessed his defaultations.

Died of a Broken Heart. Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 27.—The funeral of Fred O'Connor, train dispatcher at Fort Wayne, who was responsible for the terrible Colehour wreck during the World's Fair, when fifteen lives were lost, was held Sunday afternoon. RESUMPTION AT HAZELTON.

All the Collieries Started This Morning—Troops Not Needed.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 27.—All the collieries resumed work to-day, some for the full week, others for part of the week. It is announced at headquarters that the Fourth regiment is to be withdrawn on Tuesday. A conference will be held to decide on the withdrawal of other troops. The failure of the coroner's jury to arrive at a verdict is variously commented upon. Another meeting of the jury is to be held this evening, when it is expected a verdict will be rendered.

Canal Route to the Sea. Albany, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The deep waterway commission, appointed by President McKinley to report on a canal route connecting the upper lakes with the seaboard, has practically selected its route, according to a statement made by Chief Engineer Harrison of the commission. It will start from North Tonawanda and extend to Lake Ontario, the outlet to be near Wilson. It will begin again at Oswego and run thence to Lake Oneida, and from there to the Mohawk River, which is a direct connection via the Hudson with the Atlantic Ocean. This route is known as the Oswego route, and is practically the same as that outlined and recommended by State Engineer Surveyor Adams.

Captain Hedley Wins a Point. Carlinville, Ill., Sept. 27.—Captain F. Y. Hedley, who was indicted for manslaughter, thinks he has won the first point in the fight he is going to make for vindication in the matter of killing John R. Richards, mayor of Bunker Hill. It was generally expected that the grand jury would hold him for murder. There is some wonder that he was not held on that charge, but the prosecuting attorney asserts he only asked for a true bill on manslaughter. He thinks conviction on this score surer than it would have been had the state started out to prove a deliberate murder by Hedley of his rival and opponent.

Dies by Fire or Are Drowned. St. Petersburg, Sept. 27.—A dispatch from Ufa, capital of the department of Ufa, in southern Russia, says that the steamer Admiral Gervais, with 200 passengers, while lying off the town, took fire while all were asleep. A terrible panic ensued, owing to the fact that before the passengers could disembark the steamer moved into midstream in order not to endanger neighboring vessels. Many passengers jumped overboard to escape the flames. Some were rescued, but many more were drowned. The total number of victims has not yet been ascertained.

German Steamer Breaks the Record. New York, Sept. 27.—The steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, the latest acquisition to the large fleet of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company, arrived Sunday night at quarantine at 10 o'clock on her maiden voyage, making the passage from Southampton to New York in 5 days, 22 hours and 45 minutes, the fastest voyage on record.

Rye Crop Estimate. New York, Sept. 27.—A disappointing rye crop is indicated by final returns to the American Agriculturalist. Instead of some 28,000,000 bushels, expected from earlier indications, the crop in the United States now figures out about 25,000,000 bushels, 1,000,000 bushels more than last year, and 2,000,000 less than in 1895 and 1894.

Chinese Christians at War. Shanghai, Sept. 27.—The conflict occurring between Protestant and Catholic converts at Taichow, province of Che-Kiang, is serious. STIRS UP METHODISTS.

Dr. Evans Stamps as Obsolete the Figures on National Currency.

Milwaukee, Sept. 27.—Methodists in attendance at the Marinette conference are greatly stirred up over a sensational set of resolutions introduced by Rev. Dr. Matthew Evans.

The resolutions were supposed to bear solely on the liquor question, but the field of politics was invaded in a long preamble, in the course of which the following appeared: "The obscene pictures printed on business cards, calendars, government currency and other matter are debasing and sensual. Political corruption is manifest everywhere. Monopolies oppress the poor and trades unions menace capital. Social clubs and sentimental subjects dominate many of the Sabbath evening church services. The theater, the dance and the card table are the resort of not a few of the members of the church, and the class and prayer meetings are neglected."

In support of this Dr. Evans took a $5 note as an illustration, and said the pictures on it would disgrace the Police Gazette.

Praises American Craftsmen. London, Sept. 27.—John Burns, radical member of parliament for Battersea, has a two-column letter in the Times. Mr. Burns agrees with what has been said as to the excellence of American workmanship and adds: "The American employers' captains of industry are more inventive, adaptable and assimilative, less hide-bound in their conceits, more versatile in inventive and initiative efforts. Given skilled American supervision and inventive methods, with British mechanics' work, and therein is the alliance of organization and production which would be the best in the world."

Car Strikes at Great Britain. Paris, Sept. 27.—The Politique Coloniale publishes a dispatch from St. Petersburg saying that as a result of an exchange of views between the chancelleries of St. Petersburg, Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Rome and Constantinople the sultan of Turkey will address the powers shortly on the subject of Great Britain's evacuation of Egypt. Russia, supporting the sultan, will invite a conference at Constantinople or St. Petersburg, with the object of settling the question on the basis of the autonomy of Egypt under the suzerainty of the sultan.

Arrested on a Murder Charge. Ottumwa, Iowa, Sept. 27.—Jeff Harsh, a young farm hand, was arrested near here Sunday by officers from Warren county, on the charge of murder. In January, 1895, Ed Knott, a young farmer, was mysteriously killed on his wedding eve. C. R. and J. McCuddin were acquitted of the same charge last week. The theory of the state is that C. R. McCuddin, with his brother and Harsh, enticed Knott into a game of cards and killed him.

Two Killed in a Tunnel. Chicago, Sept. 27.—By an explosion in the northwest land tunnel last night two men were killed and several were injured. The men were working in the solid rock, and about 11 o'clock were preparing to fire a blast. Two men who were nearest the blast were killed outright and others were severely injured.

WHAT WOULD WE BE BUT FOR MISSIONS

OUR RELIGION GIVEN US BY A FOREIGN MISSIONARY.

Rev. E. H. Pence Discusses the Spreading of the Gospel in Other Lands and Quotes From Paul to Show the Debt Owed by Christians.

At the Presbyterian church yesterday a large audience listened to an enthusiastic missionary sermon by the pastor, Rev. E. H. Pence. His text was those familiar words of Paul, beginning, "I am a debtor both to the Greek and the barbarian."

These words were written to the Romans, yet Paul had a wonderful way of writing that fitted not merely to the people to whom they were written, but fitted every generation that since has come. Paul had gotten into his soul a conviction that was quite rare in that generation, and which, perhaps, is quite as rare today in a great many people who call themselves by the name of Christian.

Notice, in the first place, the sense of debt that this man expresses, and even deeper than that the conviction on which this sense is based. He had a conviction that was the product of personal experience. I do not believe that any one of you has a conviction that was not the product of personal experience. A mighty change has come over this man, and that change was seen first of all in the change within himself. He felt within himself the mighty transformation that had changed him from the old Saul of Tarsus to the man who stood realizing the sense of touch with the infinite God.

He saw the power of the gospel working its change upon the disciples. He saw that it produced the grandest manhood and womanhood the world had ever seen. He saw these men like machines filled with motive power. He saw this gospel carried into heathendom where men listened with rapt attention to the story of God's love, and he saw the marvelous transformation it had wrought in their life. There was aroused in this man's soul a sense of debt to carry this gospel wherever he could. And when this had been wrought in this man's soul, he became a missionary. He could be nothing else. This man owed a debt which he acknowledged, which he was honorable enough not to conceal within the cloister of his heart. He felt that it was a debt to all mankind. That was the very sense of duty that Christ brought when, with a rapture we see nowhere else in his life, he gives expression to that wonderful prophecy, "And I, if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me." That is what you ought to do—to lift Christ up so high that the Chinaman, the Indian, the Mohammedan, even the isles of the sea, and darkest Africa may see that Christ, and yield to the influence that is inevitable when once he is lifted up. There are people today who say: "I am a Christian, but I do not believe in foreign missions." Suppose Saul of Tarsus had not believed in foreign missions, where would you be? What are you out the product of foreign missions?

And the most disappointed people in the world today are not men who have lost their fortunes. They are men and women who are willing and anxious to go to the mission field, and cannot, because the boards of the church have not the money to send them. The happiest people in the church today are the people who are making the most sacrifice to send the gospel to foreign lands. And God will pay it back. There shall yet come back the tidal wave that we have started out to foreign lands, when God shall see the church at home corrupt, and shall send back the accumulated blessing of that foreign mission work.

Instead of the usual Thursday evening prayer meeting, there will be a tea in the church parlors on that evening, followed by a lecture by a returned missionary.

WHAT THINK YE OF CHRIST?

Rev. Robert C. Denison's Sermon on the World's Great Question.

At the Congregational church yesterday morning the pastor spoke from the text "What think ye of Christ?" The world always has its questions. The mind of man never ceases from inquiring into the things that it sees and feels. And out of these questions comes progress. It is when men inquire "Is there not something better?" that they find something better. So we come today, to the question of Christ—what do we think of Him?

The question is to be answered for ourselves. It is not asked what does some other man think but what do we think. The facts are plain, we can read for ourselves. The text pays compliment to our individual powers for our personal decision.

We will give our opinion of Christ this morning by judging him as we judge others. If one should ask what we thought of a certain man we would base our judgment on what we knew that man had done. Our deeds reveal us. In the last analysis it is not what a man sings or prays or says, but what he does that tests his character.

We ask then, what has Christ done? And first we learn he lived a pure, obedient, natural boyhood. Then he was tempted as young men are generally tempted, to use his powers for more money getting or for winning power and reputation for himself. There he refused to do because he felt that he must live for God, not out into the world. He blessed the children, taught the ignorant, healed the sick, comforted the suffering, encouraged the poor, rebuked the hypocrite, refused to listen to the flatterer. He was a tireless worker. He refused to yield an inch of the truth, and rather than yield he died a cruel death because He loved the world. These things He did. Can there be a life more divine? If God came among us would He not live just such a life? Has not God's life been realized in history?

After His death His spirit has done many things. Rome was rich, powerful and learned, but Roman life was cruel and immoral. Christ's spirit has freed the slave, elevated woman, cared for the poor, the sick, the old and the young. Since His gospel was first preached in Rome, in spite of fierce and long opposition by tyrant and priest, there has been a steady advance in human happiness. These things have the Christ done. What think ye of Him?

He has done these things by simply touching men's hearts; simply bringing them to see that God forgives and loves them, and that He is ready and able to help them into a new life. Judging by what He has done, the church confesses of this man—Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

The evening service was on the "Clear Call," which comes to us from all the facts that we meet in life; a call which summons us to make our lives true to the God who is over all and in all.

FEW CHANGES IN BETHLEHEM

Rev. A. C. Kempton Tells of Visit to the Holy Land

Rev. A. C. Kempton of Eau Claire, preached at the Baptist church Sunday morning from the subject: "The Sanctuary of the Mind." His text was in Phil. 4:8. He said in part:

We don't as yet, understand the influence of our thought upon our religious life. Every Christian mind should be a sanctuary. It may be defiled, but Christ can come in and cleanse it as he did Solomon's temple. If we realized the influence of our thoughts upon our lives who would see that our thoughts were better. If you let good thoughts rule it will greatly benefit your whole life.

God would have us think upon good things, upon the truth, etc., instead of those things that are evil and wrong. We should think upon the good people, and especially upon the life of Christ. We become like our thoughts. Think upon pure things and we will become pure. God loves a pure and true man. Think upon things that are lovely. Study nature and it will do you good. These lovely things will make you better. Think of the lovely attributes of the good and true and especially upon the grand life of Christ.

Think of good reports, and let the evil things alone. What a change in our lives, our newspapers, our leaders in political thought, if we were all to think upon the good reports of life, rather than the evil.

Think upon the important things of life. Think of the good things that are worthy of praise, love, devotion, self denial, etc., and it will do us good.

Fill your minds with the good things of life and it will lead you to a higher life. Let Christ come into your hearts and play the music of your hearts. He will help you to become like the things here named by Paul.

In the evening Mr. Kempton gave a very interesting account of his travels in Palestine. His special subject was "Bethlehem." He took for his text, Luke 2-15, and declared Bethlehem to be one of the most interesting cities in the world. In describing its surroundings he referred to the fact that Rachel's tomb is about one mile from the city. For over 4000 years that tomb has been held sacred by all people. Bethlehem is situated upon a hillside. The houses are built of a yellowish limestone with red roofs. There is about 6000 population.

The same customs prevail as in the time of Ruth. Ruth's great grandson was David. He was so great that Bethlehem was called the city of David. He was the greatest poet that ever lived. Much of his poetry was descriptive of Bethlehem. Learn the poems of David and you will recall them when you visit Bethlehem.

Today the people live under the same roof with the cattle. It is quite a common thing for the mothers, to place their children in the manger, thus giving a picture of the birth of Christ. The grove where it is supposed that Christ was born, is a place where all men meet and worship the Christ together. May we all meet where Christ is in his glorified state and enjoy his presence forever.

At the evening service Miss Cora Anderson sang a beautiful solo one that could be understood by all present.

The Y. P. S. C. E. was led by Miss Nellie Smiley. The subject was "Lost Ones' Life and Finding It."

AUCTION SALE WAS NOT LARGE

Comparatively Few Farmers Brought in Stock Saturday—An October Sale.

The market day's auction sale held at the Exchange was not the success that the management had hoped for. Auctioneer Dooley and Secretary J. H. Buras were on hand but the farmers were slow in listing live stock. Alex Wiggins of Footville purchased eight sheep at $3.50 each, while two calves were sold to W. H. Cory, of Center for $10 each.

GOT THREE YEARS AFTER MUCH EFFORT

ST. JOHN, THE SELF ACCUSED BURFLAR, SENTENCED.

Says He Has Been Hounded From Place to Place Ever Since He Served a Term in Waupun and Wants to Go Where He Can Begin Life Anew.

Peter St. John, who appeared at the jail one night about three weeks ago and startled the sheriff with the announcement that he had burglarized the house of Algernon Eager, in the city of Evansville on the night of Aug. 26 was before the municipal court for sentence today.

When given an opportunity by Judge Phelps to tell his story before sentence was passed St. John said he had tried to live an honest life since his release from Waupun and had secured employment with ten or twelve different farmers, but in each case he lost his job owing to subsequent knowledge on the part of his employers that he had served a term in state's prison. The last position he held was with John Fisher, where he stayed thirty seven days. When he was to go to the last time he took hope and went back to Evansville. While there he fell in with a prison acquaintance named Gaffney. The latter filled him up with whiskey (he had not previously drunk since leaving prison) and induced him to assist in burglarizing Mr. Eager's residence. He received his share of the plunder, $15.

When asked what he expected to make his future he said that when he was released he proposed to go to some community where he was not known and begin life over again.

The judge gave the prisoner some wholesome advice saying among other things that it was not surprising that he failed to live down a Waupun reputation in a few weeks; that to command respect and confidence it would be necessary for him to be continually on his good behavior. If he had made up his mind that state's prison was a good place for him it would certainly be better for the state and undoubtedly for the prisoner if he should remain there. However, in view of the extenuating facts in the case his Honor was inclined to give him an opportunity to make a struggle and sentenced him to imprisonment in the state prison for a term of three years, the minimum penalty under the statutes, with the first two days solitary confinement.

THE ENDEAVOR CONVENTION

Prominent Speakers Will Be at the Appleton Meeting.

The eleventh annual meeting of the Wisconsin Christian Endeavor Union is to be held in Appleton, October 7, 8, 9, and 10. Among the prominent speakers are, Rev. Josiah Strong of New York, who will give the convention sermon; Treasurer William Shaw of Boston; State President Hunt of Minnesota; Rev. Torry, from the Moody School, Chicago; Bushnell and Pratt, of the Wisconsin Bible School, beside several others of equal prominence.

One of the features of the convention will be the cafe, where one thousand Endeavorers can be accommodated for meals, over four hundred at a sitting. One object being to nourish sociability, meals are served for twenty-five cents each; sleeping accommodations being furnished free by the people of Appleton.

Delegates to the convention will be sure and send their names to W. D. Gibson, 749 Appleton street, chairman of entertainment committee.

When purchasing tickets, delegates must secure a certificate that they have paid full fare, in order to secure reductions on return tickets.

Moments are useless if trifled away; and they are dangerously wasted if consumed by delay in cases where One Minute Cough Cure would bring immediate relief. C. D. Stevens.

PACER SPECK SOLD FOR $325

Joe Heald Sells Another Fast One to Belvidere Attorney.

Belvidere professional men are strong admirers of Janesville horses. Joseph Heald who sold Mattie E. Gould in Belvidere last week, today closed the deal transferring the well known pacer Speck to Attorney Wright of Belvidere. The price paid was $325. Speck was raised by G. A. Proctor of La Prairie who sold him to Heald two years ago. Speck is now a four year old and has shown speed at a 2:20 clip.

THEY MUST TAG KILLED DEER

This Year Hunters Buy Permits That Allow Them To Bring Home Two.

People with only a faint interest in the hunting of deer are speculating as to the effect the enforcement of the new game law will have on the market. The deer season opens November 1, and lasts twenty days. A hunter by expending one dollar, can procure a certificate allowing him to kill two deer. To procure this document, he is also obliged to make affidavit that he is a resident of this state. It gives a description of the hunter and is non-transferable. The coupons are attached to the certificate, and if a hunter ships a deer by railroad a coupon must be tied to the carcass or it is a penal offense for a railroad to receive and transport it. The literal enforcement of the law will reduce the number of deer shipped to market, local sportsmen think. A certificate sold to a hunter from another state will cost him $30.

STATE FAIR IN THIS CITY

Janesville Made the State Agricultural Society Plenty of Money.

There was a time when the state fair was held in the little town of Janesville, and it took in more clean money than it has done since. These were great days for fairs, and they were great fairs for those days. General Grant was an attraction at one of them, and President Hayes at another. The old state fairs, or some of their good features, at least, should be revived. During the golden days of the society, Clinton Bobbitt was secretary, and the honest N. D. Pratt was president, and though there were some fast horses then, they didn't run everything else off the ground—Fond du Lac Common wealth.

Running sores, indolent ulcers and similar troubles, even though of many years standing may be cured by using DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It soothes, strengthens and heals. It is a great pile cure. C. D. Stevens.

ALL AFTER THE POST OFFICE

Plenty of Patriots in Clinton Ready to Serve Uncle Sam

The scramble for the post office and the emoluments connected therewith may be said to be now fairly on. Messrs. Henry Cony, Myron Patchen, W. A. Mayhew, Frank A. Ames and H. A. Anderson have been working for some time to secure the plum. Thomas Ames is the latest candidate who has an earnest desire to serve Uncle Sam and affix "P. M." after his name when the commission of the present incumbent, Mr. Badlong, expires.—Clinton Herald.

If you have ever seen a little child in a paroxysm of whooping cough, or if you have been annoyed by a constant tickling in the throat, you can appreciate the value of One Minute Cough Cure, which gives a quick relief. C. D. Stevens.

CYCLER COLLIDES WITH COW

Front Wheel Smashed But Century Run
Not Interfered With.

Carl Miller, Frank Sutherland and J. C. DeLong made a century run to Oconomowoc yesterday under rather trying circumstances. As the trio were entering Whitewater they spied a large red cow grazing beside the road. Just as they passed, the cow made a dash to cross the road. She stuck her hind leg through Miller's front wheel and smashed the rim. The wheelmen walked to Whitewater, found a repair shop and finished their ride in time to win new century bars.

The Spartan Virtue of Fortitude

Must be possessed in no ordinary degree by those who bear the pangs of rheumatism without complaint. We have never heard of such an individual. But why not, are the life long martyrs to begin, extinguish the germ of this atrocious malady with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the efficacy of which as a preventive of the disease, as well as a means of relieving it, is well established and amply attested, during the last forty-five years, over professional signature? It expurgates from the blood those acid principles which beget the pain and inflammation characteristic of this complaint, which, if it should be recollected is always liable to terminate life suddenly when it attacks a vital part. The Bitters also expels the virus of malaria from the system, remedies dyspepsia, kidney complaint, constipation and biliousness, quiets the nerves, and invigorates the whole physical organism.

DISCIPLINE UNRULY PLAYERS

Butler and Cantillon Reserved For Next Year by Dubuque.

The Dubuque baseball club has returned home after undergoing repeated defeats. The team including Butler and Cantillon has been reserved for next season. The finishing of the season by all the clubs maintains the right to discipline reluctant players.—Rockford Register Gazette.

"You have been in the cigarette business so long," said the anxious mother, "that you must be able to give me the information I want. I hope you will candidly answer my question. Are cigarettes injurious to the health?" "It all depends, ma'am," said the tobacco merchant. "On what?" "On whether you smoke them or sell them."

A Norwegian Monarch's Long Reign.
Norway can boast one of the longest reigns known in European history. Harald Fairhair, the founder of the kingdom of all Norway and of the dynasty which reigned 400 years, became king at the age of ten, 860, and died 933. If he had not resigned, owing to his advanced age, in 930, he might have held the "record" of Europe, which now belongs to Louis XIV. of France.

HISTORIC BOARD.

Surrounding the court house in a county seat within a hundred miles of Springfield, Illinois, stood for many years a plain board fence. Before it finally disappeared to make way for "park" improvements it had been rebuilt at least twice. At each rebuilding, however, particular care was taken to leave a certain "top board" in exactly the position it had occupied before, not even a new nail-hole being made in it.

A stranger, noticing one day this peculiarity in the fence, asked an old citizen who was leaning against a locust-tree and whittling a stick if there was any explanation.

"Did the county run out of money," he inquired, "when it had got this fence all finished except one board?"

"No, sir," replied the old citizen, putting his jack-knife in his pocket, walking to the fence, and laying his hand on it in a most impressive manner. "This top board is with more'n all the rest of the fence put together, old and rotted as it is."

"Old Abe Lincoln made a speech in this court house yard in 1858, and when he was through talkin' he saw an old farmer in the crowd that he used to know when he was a boy, an' he came down from the stand an' took that old feller out to the fence an' talked over old times with him for ten minutes or more, without payin' any attention to the big-bugs that was waitin' to take him off to dinner. And while he talked to him, sir, he rested his right foot on this yere top board. I seen him do it, an' so did five hundred other men—an' that board haint never been disturbed sence, an' haint never goin' to be!"

Saying which, the old man walked back to his position against the locust-tree, took his knife from his pocket again and resumed his whittling.

How Far Was It?

Southern distances are peculiar, and the road directions which a tourist receives are sometimes wanting in the quality of explicitness. "How far is it from here to Brinsburg?" asked a tourist of an old fellow who was hoeing weeds in a field of sickly corn "down South." "Is it far?" "Waal, it haint so very fer nor it haint so very big. If you go around by the big road it's ferder nor it is nigh, but if you cut across country it's nigher nor it is fer, an' if you keep right straight ahead it's kinder betwixt nigh an' fer, but it's considerable of a jaunt from hyar no matter how you git thar."

—Harper's Bazar.

Won the Test.

Willie Gasson, aged 16 years, was drowned in the canal at Dayton, Ohio, while bathing. The boy and a number of companions were experimenting as to who could stay beneath the water the longest. The Gasson lad failed to come to the top in one of these ventures, and it is supposed that he was taken with cramps and burst a blood vessel.

A HOME AT LAST.

The New Century Journal, a little paper published as the organ of a guild of workingwomen in Philadelphia, which numbers over a thousand members, gives a column to the record of little deeds of heroism or kindness which have actually occurred.

Among these was the story of a poor boy, an incurable invalid, whose name many years ago was entered for admission to an institution in which invalids of all classes, both rich and poor, are taken, and where he would have a comfortable home for life. So large, however, was the number of applicants, that the boy grew to manhood before his turn came.

Last winter he received notice that at length a place in the institution was ready and waiting for him. He was friendly and penniless. He started alone at night on a railway journey of many miles, and was set down at dawn at the gate of the great establishment, cold and tired, his heart sick with apprehension. He had never had a real home. This was to be his refuge for the rest of his life. In the dim light it looked perhaps more like a jail than a home.

The gate rolled back at his feeble ring, and the night porter appeared. He looked at the forlorn figure standing there with his shabby bundle, and by a question learned at once that he was an expected applicant. The poverty of the weary, homeless cripple was too apparent to be overlooked. Seizing him by both hands the sympathetic porter exclaimed: "Glad to see you, sir! You've come to stay with us? You're heartily welcome home!" The matron was summoned, who gave the newcomer as cordial a welcome.

While he was being warmed and fed, the pleasant room which was to be his for life was made ready for him. The matron was busy in the storeroom, and presently filled his drawers with suits of underclothing, linen and other necessities. Some of these were in a day or two marked with his own name! She knew how important to his future happiness was the respect of his companions, and when she led him the next morning, comfortably dressed, down to breakfast and introduced him to them, there were no further questions or apprehensions in his mind. Happy and confident and hopeful, the lonely waif felt at last that he was at home. These are the homely acts of two gentle-hearted officials whose names even we do not know, but they touch something true and good which lies deep in all of our hearts.

The Kite as an Aid to Science.

It is said that experiments are about to be tried with kites to assist in discovering the conditions of high altitudes. A camera will be attached to the kite and the shutter will be worked by an electric automatic device. In this way photographs will be taken of the tops of the most inaccessible cliffs. It is also proposed to utilize kites as a means of climbing to the tops of places which even the most experienced tourists have failed to reach. Kites may be made strong enough to lift a light person to a great height, or they may be so handled in the wind as to draw a line over some point, and by means of this other lines sufficiently strong to carry weight can be pulled over. An expedition of six persons from Princeton University are about to undertake a trip to New Mexico for the purpose of such explorations. It is not too much to expect that before many years the kite will prove to be the explorer's best friend, as the recent improvements in what was a childish toy have demonstrated that the lifting and sustaining capacity of a properly-constructed kite is little less than marvelous.

How Oscar Sherwood Lost Four Legs.

Oscar Sherwood, of Elmhurst's Corners, Me., says he is the only man in the world who has lost four legs in the service of his country. The first was wounded and amputated at Vera Cruz, during the Mexican war. The second was taken off during the retreat at Bull Run by a piece of artillery passing over it. The third was carried away by a cannon ball at Fair Oaks. The fourth mishap was before Petersburg, when Sherwood was sent to an underground magazine for the purpose of learning its ability to stand the bombardment from Confederate shells. Perhaps it was as well to mention that the second leg taken off was of cork, and the two subsequent ones of willow.

GEN. BRAGG.

AS TO BOSSES.

Some well meaning folks who are watching the New York municipal campaign from a distance talk of it as a "contest of the people against the bosses." As a matter of fact the men in charge of the Citizens Union movement have nearly all tried to be bosses themselves but have not succeeded. The republican voters would not have them. It should be remembered and the suggestion has as much bearing in Wisconsin as in New York, that if any leader or boss became unsatisfactory to a majority of his party his leadership or bossship would end at once. In any party leaders have got to represent a majority on their followers or they will be put down and out.

In such independent movements as the Seth Low campaign in New York, on the other hand, the leaders or bosses represent nobody but themselves. They are self-created bosses.
They can do as they please and nobody can depose them because there is nobody to depose them. They have no constituency. They are not obliged at any time to consider the desires or interest of followers, for they have no regular body of followers.

Such men, some of them the rejected incapables of the two great parties, some of them the vagrant amateurs of every new ism in politics, all of them without successful political experience and without popular support or even an appreciation of popular feeling, are forever trying to have their grab for notoriety regarded as a struggle of the people against the bosses.
They are bosses themselves, more autocratic than any regular bosses because owning no responsibility to people or party and free to follow their own whims.

Experience has demonstrated that American horses are the best in the world, and the Mikado of Japan has ordered that nothing but American thoroughbreds shall hereafter be used

"Business is everywhere reviving, the furnaces have again been lighted, the forges are flaming, the factories are running. We see clouds of smoke by day and pillars of fire by night."
—Senator Foreker.

And now comes the announcement that raw hides have increased over thirty per cent in price since the Dingley bill was framed. Will the democratic brethren charge that to foreign famine also?

Roads running out of Chicago are carrying 50 per cent. more grain than they were a year ago. Every steamer and car that can be utilized in carrying grain is now in movement.

THREW THREE WOMEN
FROM A CARRIAGEHORSE FRIGHTENED BY TRAIN
ON CUT-OFF.

Mrs. Joseph Wallace, Mrs. Cassidy and Miss Dayton Injured in a Runaway Accident Near the Three Mile Creek—Horse Frightened By a Train.

Three women were thrown from their buggy last evening, three miles north of this city, by the sudden lunging of their horse, who became frightened by a passing train. All three were injured.

Mrs. Joseph Wallace, 50 North Main street, city, injured internally and slightly bruised about the body.

Mrs. May Cassidy, town of La Prairie, collar bone fractured and bruised about the body.

Miss Clara Dayton, town of Jamesville, cut about the head and bruised about the shoulders.

Mrs. Cassidy and Miss Dayton spent yesterday in this city the guests of Mrs. Wallace, who lives at the corner of Main street and Prospect avenue. Last evening at 6:30 o'clock the three left the city for the home of Mrs. Dayton, four miles north of this city, at what is known as the Rock river house.

Three miles north of this city they were obliged to drive under the Northwestern railroad bridge. They were just under the span when the 7.20 passenger train from St. Paul thundered over.
The horse bolted and the buggy went over. Mrs. Wallace who had the reins wound around her hands was dragged several yards before she succeeded in freeing herself. The horse when captured was cut about the legs while the buggy was wrecked.

The accident was seen by several and a messenger was dispatched for Dr. J. F. Pember. Today all three of the injured ones were considered out of danger.

DR. HALL FOR COURT STREET

Prediction Is Made That the Whitewater
Pastor Will Come Here.

A special dispatch from Marinette to The Gazette, this afternoon, states that the Methodist conference today raised $3,000 to build a new science hall at Lawrence University, Appleton. Congressman Isaac Stephenson contributed $1,500.

Appointments for the year will be announced tonight. The Rev. W. A.
Hall will be sent to Court Street, Jamesville, with the Rev. Enoch Perry of Wausau, as his successor as Whitewater.

One of the younger ministers is said to be in line for rapid promotion in the appointment of the Rev. S. H.
Anderson of Clintonville to the First church in Oshkosh.

There will be probably only one new minister sent to Milwaukee, the Rev. C. E. Goldthorpe to the Asbury church. The Rev. S. W. Taylor is said to be slated for Kenosha.

The valuation of the church property was reported at $1,087,025 for the church buildings, and $225,130 for the parsonages.

The amount raised for the salaries of the pastors and for all the benevolent collections was as follows:

Appleton, $25,598 and $3,766.
Fond du Lac $22,584 and $3,850.
Jamesville $25,581 and $5,110.
Milwaukee, $30,008 and $11,506.
Oshkosh $20,622 and $2,823.
Total, $124,393 and $27,486.

Last year the amount was $126,586 and $28,359. The prevalence of the hard times has been shown by the decrease in the salaries paid of $2,193, which was equalled the year before by a similar decrease of $2,188. The decrease in the money collected for benevolent purposes was $873.

Following is the membership in the churches of the conference by districts:
Appleton, 4,300 members and 466 probationers; Fond du Lac, 3,250 and 242; Jamesville, 4,782 and 249; Milwaukee, 4,705 and 266; Oshkosh 3,549 and 379; total, 20,586 and 1,602.
Last year the number was 20,- 321 members and 1,847 probationers. The gain in full members in the whole conference has been 365, and in the whole number of members and probationers there was a gain of 120. There has been a gain in full members in every district except the Milwaukee, where there was a decrease of nearly 100.

THE OLD WAY

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Barbarous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at present time and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others or to greatly diminish the quantity usually taken, in other words the starvation plan is by many supposed to be the first essential.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure for dyspepsia has been proven time and again, but still the moment Dyspepsia makes its appearance a course of dieting is at once advised.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting or starvation to a man suffering from Dyspepsia, because Indigestion itself starves every organ and every nerve and every fibre in the body.

What the Dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well-cooked food and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia, in other words the patient eats plenty of wholesome food and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for him. In this way the system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, because the tablets will digest the food whether the stomach works or not. One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or eggs.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the purest and safest remedy sold for stomach troubles and every trial makes one more friend for this excellent preparation. Sold at 50cts. for full sized package at all drug stores.

TWO LARGE CLASSES WERE CONFIRMED

ARCHBISHOP KATZER CONDUCTS THE SERVICES.

Rev Father Collins Celebrates Mass at St. Patrick's Church and the Sermon of the Day is By Rev Father Bloomer of Kansas City.

Confirmation services were held in the two Catholic churches of the city Sunday, there being very large classes. At St. Patrick's church especially the influence of the mission was apparent. The services began at 10 o'clock, mass being celebrated by Father J. J. Collins. Father Bloomer, of Kansas City, who has been conducting the mission here preached, and confirmation was then administered by Archbishop F. X. Katzer, of Milwaukee, assisted by Dean McGinnity and Father J. T. Moran, of Kansas City. The music of the day was very impressive. Stearn's mass in E flat was rendered with orchestral and organ accompaniment, there being a full choir, Smith's orchestra of five pieces and Miss Marie McClellan as organist. The altar was handsomely decorated. The church was crowded, there being no standing room left even in the aisles.

The confirmation class was made up as follows:

Archbishop Katzer today conducted confirmation services in Beloit assisted by Rev. Father Roche. There was a class of nearly 100. He will be in Beloit tomorrow and in Monroe Wednesday.

During the last week a mission for women has been conducted with great success at St. Patrick's church by Rev. Father Bloomer, of Kansas City. The mission closed Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and Sunday evening at 7:30 a mission for men was opened. It will continue one week.

MORE LAND BOUGHT FOR DEPOT SITE

ELDRIDGE AND PEASE PROPERTY TRANSFERRED.

Broad Drive Will Face New Building—E. T. Fish Gets Contract to Move the Old Building—Excavating Begins Thursday Morning Without Fail.

A transfer of real estate that has an important bearing upon the new depot project was made this morning. B. B. Eldridge and Mrs. J. J. Pease transferred to the C. & N. W. Co. the lot at the southwest corner of Wall and Marion streets diagonally across the street from the present depot lot. They also sold to the company the lot running from Milwaukee street through to the tracks. This lot is 110 feet wide and begins about 100 feet west of the Marion street corner.

These two purchases give the Northwestern road all of the east half of the coal yard block except a lot held by the Andrew Palmer estate at the corner of Milwaukee and Marion streets. It is understood that a portion of the property will be turned into a street, so that a broad driveway will front the new depot with opening at Academy street, Marion street, and through the new street in the lot acquired this morning.

The work of moving the old depot was not begun this morning as was expected. The officials of the road were expected to reach town this afternoon and look over the ground and it was impossible to take action until their decision had been announced. Fully 100 men applied for work at the depot before 7 o'clock this morning.

Civil Engineer Robinson of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad with his corps of surveyors arrived in the city on the noon train and this afternoon commenced the work of "staking out" the ground to be broken for the new station.

Eugene T. Fish was awarded the contract to move the present depot so that it will occupy the present lot and face Academy street with the baggage room to stand near the present platform. This structure will be left standing until February 1, when the new depot will be ready for occupancy. Mr. Fish is to have the present depot moved by Wednesday evening so that the work of excavating for the new depot can be commenced Thursday morning.

DROWNED IN A BATH TUB

William Timmony Found Dead In Six Inches of Water.

William Timmony was taken with an epileptic fit while bathing at the Rock county insane asylum Saturday afternoon and was found an hour later with his head in six inches of water. Justice M. P. Richardson was called and summoned a coroner's jury consisting of Joseph L. Bear, John L. Fletcher, Sutton Norris, George Barriage, Fred Sherwood, of this city, and William Shields, of the town of Harmony. The coroner's jury viewed the remains at 6:30 in the evening and the inquest was adjourned until this morning.

The dead man was formerly a resident of this city, living with his mother, Mrs. Nellie Timmony, on Augusta street. He was twenty years of age at his death. He was sent to the insane asylum at Madison when he was fifteen years of age, but about two years ago was transferred to the Rock county asylum. His mother moved from this city several years ago.

At 10 o'clock this morning the coroner's jury met in the office of Justice M. P. Richardson and found that "the deceased came to his death by drowning as the result of accidentally falling into a bath tub while having an epileptic fit."

STEBBINS RODE OFF LEAVING NO CLUE

FRIENDS SEARCH FOR A COOKS-VILLE STORE KEEPER.

He Had Been Riding With His Wife Sunday Afternoon But When He Mounted His Wheel Later He Said Nothing About His Destination.

Ernest M. Stebbins, proprietor of the general store in Cooksville, has been missing since yesterday, and his friends are greatly concerned. The Edgerton police were notified by telephone early this morning, and relatives of the missing man reached this city during the forenoon and made inquiries wherever there was any hope of a clue.

Mr. Stebbins went away on his bicycle yesterday afternoon. When he failed to reach home in time to open his store this forenoon, friends became alarmed. His regularity of habit made his absence in this case the more unusual. Relatives also recalled the fact that he had considerable money in his pockets when he went away.

One of the Cooksville people who was in the city today, said that Mr. Stebbins was out driving with his wife, Sunday afternoon. After that, he went to the store two blocks from his house, and spent a little while looking over the books. When the store was opened this morning it was found that he had charged himself with fifty dollars on the books, and had left a note to his partner, explaining some points about the business. He left no word, however, to any of his family. Mr. Stebbins was a man about thirty years of age.

LOVE'S LABOUR LOST.

Young Roland loved sweet Geraldine.
He loved her for herself,
Although her crusty father had
All kinds of filthy pelt.

But other eager suitors came
In crowds to win her hand.
Then Roland played a little game
They did not understand.

For, while the rest did court the maid,
He sought her mother out.
And won her favor ere she knew
Just what he was about.

He filled her ears with flattery,
He called her young and fair.
He said that with her daughter she Did very well compare.

ENVOY.
Now wit ye well, while Roland played
His game upon her mother
That fair, that winsome little maid
Was eloping with another.
—Cleveland Leader.

SAVED THE CANARY.

On the evening of the alarm of fire at the florist's place, three doors from the Alfalfa European hotel, "Doc" Horne told of his singular experience at a fire in the town of Crosbyville.

"The first time I ever visited in Crosbyville one of my friends invited me to go to a shooting match, and after I got out there I was asked to enter the contest. Well, I went in and I happened to get a rifle that sighted just right for me, and I won. A man who had been introduced to me as Captain Jaynes made the next highest score. It seemed to me that the other contestants took their defeat good naturedly, but on the way home my friend told me to look out for this Captain Jaynes. He was a hotheaded Kentuckian, and it seems that this was the first time he had been defeated in a year or so, and it worried him a good deal. My friend told me that he had taken a dislike to me and would probably try to pick a quarrel with me at the first opportunity.

"Well, that same afternoon I invited all the men who had been at the shooting match to come over to the tavern. It was customary for the winner of the match to stand treat to the others. Captain Jaynes came in rather late, while we were all sitting around and talking. I arose and asked him to join the party. He bowed very coldly and said that he was not in the habit of drinking with strangers. Well, I was pretty hot blooded in my younger days. I said: 'Very well, captain. I withdraw the invitation. I made the mistake of supposing that you would feel at home in a company of gentlemen.' I knew what to expect when I said that. He started to draw a knife, but before he could lift it I had hold of him. They pulled us apart and tried to quiet him, but he went away raving mad. They all said that he would kill me the first time we met, but he must have cooled down when he had time to think it over. I saw him often after that—passed him on the street. He never made a move, but I knew that he hated me and would be glad of a chance to do me an injury.

"The captain's house was right on the bank of the Green river and stood near his mill. It was an old fashioned two story house, very broad and well built and thickly surrounded by trees. It was considered the best house in Crosbyville. The captain was the wealthiest and one of the most prominent citizens of the town. He was a widower and had two children—a boy of 14 or so and a young lady named Elizabeth. She was a very beautiful girl—very charming. I had met her several times, but, of course, I had never become well acquainted with her on account of my feud with her father.

"Well, to make a long story short, the whole town was aroused by an alarm of fire one night, and when we turned out the Jaynes mill was one mass of flames. It was an old style structure, with a framework of heavy logs, and it made a fearful blaze. The wind was blowing the flames toward the house. Every one saw that it was of no use to try to save the mill, so we turned in to defend the house—got up on the roof and passed buckets and put out wet blankets to catch the sparks, but it was no use. The men were driven off the roof, and the water dried as fast as it was thrown on. All at once one whole side of the house seemed to spring into a flame. There was a general shout, and everybody retreated to a safe distance. The members of the family and the neighbors had been removing the household goods. Just as the house caught fire and all the men were getting out of it as fast as they could I heard Elizabeth Jaynes cry out, 'The canary!' Then all ran back into the house, with every one calling to her to stop. I didn't hesitate a moment, but ran after. She ran through that terrific heat and dense smoke right up the stairway, and I followed. I caught her by the arm at the top of the stairs and told her to come back. She was hysterical and excited. She said she wouldn't leave until she got the bird. In spite of all I could do she pulled away from me and ran to the front room—her bedroom, I believe—and felt her way to where the bird was hanging. Gentlemen, it was never hotter in any lake oven than it was in that room. As soon as she got the bird cage I dragged her back through the hall.

"The smoke was not so thick now, because the fire had got a free draft through the house and was making a fearful roar and spreading rapidly. When we reached the stairway, the whole lower end of it was ablaze. I dragged the girl away to the front window, but by that time the whole veranda was on fire. The crowd outside saw us and shouted something, I couldn't tell what. I saw that there was no escape over that burning veranda. When the people outside began to shout, the girl fainting. I threw her across my shoulder and started for the rear of the house, because I knew that was my only salvation. The whole stairway was ablaze by that time, and flames were creeping up through the floor. I closed my lips tightly, and in about four leaps I reached a back window. Outside there was a big tree, almost brushing the window. I kicked out the window sash and simply jumped into the tree. It was the only thing to be done. Luckily I got my arm over a limb, which saved me with us and dropped us to the ground. I scrambled to my feet and ran, with the girl still hanging absolutely limp and helpless over my shoulder. I went straight for the river with the intention of jumping in. The boat was on the river. It had driven away the man who had been filling their backs with the river.

"Just as I staggered down the river bank I saw a skin. Some one had probably rowed across the river to the boat for the boat was not far from the bank, with the girl, into the boat. I gave it a strong push out into the current, and in a few seconds we were floating down stream and were safe.

"She had the canary, I suppose," said the lightning dentist.

"Oh, yes. She was in a dead faint, but she hadn't let go of the cage. As soon as I recovered my breath and we my clothes in two or three places where they were on fire I splashed water in the girl's face and she recovered consciousness, but she was so fastened and excited that she didn't know where she was or remember what had happened.

"We could look up the river and see the burning house. It made a huge blaze and threw a bright glare across the river. I remember the peculiar effect of this glare on the windows of the houses across the river. It caused them to glow as if the houses were filled with live flames. The girl was so frightened that she thought all the houses were afire.

"When I got ready to row back, I discovered that I hadn't any oars. The current was swift, and we were drifting rapidly, so I pulled out a seat board and used it as a rudder, and in a few minutes I made a landing near a house occupied by a Mr. Wesley. Miss Jaynes was still so weak and nervous that she could hardly walk, but I assisted her to this house and aroused the inmates. They would hardly believe my story at first, but they could see the burning house up the river, and they recognized Miss Jaynes as soon as the lights were brought.

"The woman of the house was very kind. She cared for the young lady tenderly for about two hours and had one of the boys drive us back to Crosbyville. Now, in the general excitement we had forgotten that the people in Crosbyville had no reason to believe that we had escaped from the burning house. Miss Jaynes said several times, 'I suppose father is wondering where I am,' but she had no idea that he and all the others were convinced that we had perished in the flames. However, you couldn't blame them for thinking so. The window from which I had leaped was well hidden by trees, and there was no one at the river bank when we leaped into the boat. We learned afterward that the men had pulled down the burning veranda and had planted a ladder at the front window where we had been seen, but the blaze was so fierce that they had been driven back.

"Every one supposed, of course, that we were lost, so you can imagine what happened when we drove up in front of the ruins about 7 o'clock in the morning. They were already searching for our bodies. Yes, sir, they thought we were ghosts. As soon as I explained to them how we got away you never heard such cheering in your life. They lifted Miss Jaynes out of the wagon and took her over to a neighboring house to which the captain had been taken. He had been almost wild with grief. Those who went over to the house say it was one of the most affecting meetings that could be imagined. First he wept like a baby, and then he jumped up and laughed like a boy and said he didn't care for the loss of his buildings so long as his daughter was safe. I suppose his daughter must have given him a very favorable account of my efforts in her behalf, for presently he came out of the house and walked up to where I was standing and said: 'Mr. Horne, you have done me the greatest service that one man can do another. All that I have is at your command now and forever. I once did you an injustice. You have repaid me. Will you take the hand of a man who honestly admits himself beaten and humiliated?' I said to him: 'Captain, you are a brave and gallant man, but you were mistaken for once. Let us say no more about the misunderstanding of the past. We shook hands, and from then forward we were friends. He was a man of passions and prejudices, but if he came to know you and like you he was the truest friend a man ever had.'

"There's only one thing needed to make that a good story," suggested the dentist. "You ought to say that you married the captain's daughter."

From Pulpit to Mining.

The Rev. Frank B. Vrooman, who says that he has been frozen out of the pastorate of the People's church, Chicago, is going to the Klondike to direct a mining company and will not return to the pulpit. He is a lineal descendant of Count Egmont, prince of Gavre, who was beheaded by the Duke of Alva during the persecutions of the sixteenth century. He is a Harvard man, but has spent much time at Oxford and in Berlin, and studied sociology for a year in London, where he lived at Toynbee Hall. While he was at Oxford he filled the pulpit of the Holloway Congregational church, which eventually gave him a call, but he received at the same time a call to succeed the Rev. Thomas K. Beecher of Elmira, N. Y., and accepted it. After filling this place for 18 months he returned to London for awhile, but soon accepted a call to the Salem Street Congregational church of Worcester, Mass. His difficulties in the Presbyterian church arose from the fact that he had no metaphysical theory concerning the doctrine of the Trinity. —New York Tribune.

THE GUINEA PIG.

Is Considered a Delicious Article of Food in France.

We do not yet appreciate the tailless cavy as an article of human food, says Chambers' Journal. In France they sell them for rabbits; and there are three farms in this country where they are reared, and which export them to France, one farmer alone exporting over 150,000 of the little beasts. The flavor of the meat is said to be identical with that of rabbit meat. These animals need constant attention to keep them out of mischief, as they are little demons to fight, and they have a habit of chewing up whatever fragments that they find scattered about till they die of gastric congestion. In their habits they are subject to unaccountable panics and often rush about squeaking, and then huddle together quietly for the rest of the day. They are very prolific, and the young are not blind like the young of the rabbit, and often, when only two days old, it is said, will eat grass and sop. On the farm they are fed on sop made of milk and stale but not sour bread, along with green stuff, barley and hay. In guinea pig farming, as in quail farming, it is admitted that large profits are made—due, no doubt, to the fact that there is so little competition. Probably the rabbit you so much enjoyed at your hotel dinners when touring in France was simply the humble cavy dressed up.

VACCINATION.

Much of the prejudice against vaccination which still exists in the minds of many people is fed by the occurrence now and then of unpleasant or even dangerous inflammation, apparently caused directly by the operation. This inflammation may often be prevented, however, by the exercise of a little care, or it can be robbed of any serious consequences by intelligent treatment.

The danger of the inoculation of certain constitutional diseases, which was once urged with some reason against vaccination, is now done away with by the almost universal custom of taking the virus from a healthy calf instead of from the arm of a vaccinated child.

Sometimes a wide extent of surface on the arm surrounding the point of vaccination becomes hot, red, swollen, itching, and perhaps even painful. This inflammation, beyond the discomfort it causes, is seldom serious, and requires only the application of some smooth baby powder or of a cold lotion, round, but not over, the vaccination sore. In some cases the inflammation persists and spreads in spite of these simple measures, and then, especially if the whole arm becomes involved, or the glands under the arm become swollen and tender, a physician should be consulted without delay.

Better than treatment, however, is the prevention of the causes of this inflammation. Sometimes it is due to friction by the clothing or to scratching by the child, which breaks the skin over the little blisters, or tears off the scab and irritates the raw place so produced. To prevent this a vaccination shield may be worn, or better yet the part may be covered by a wide, thick layer of cotton fastened to the arm by adhesive plaster.

Other causes of a sore arm after vaccination are dirt, catching cold, indigestion from improper diet, and constitutional weakness. With some children every scratch is followed by inflammation which takes a long time to get well. Such children will almost surely have a sore arm after vaccination, and if possible the operation should be deferred until they have been built up by tonics and fresh air. During the entire vaccination period the diet should be simple, meat and all "heating" foods being very sparingly indulged in.

Remarkable Progress of a New Store.

THE LEADER is enjoying an immense trade, which, considering the comparatively short time it has been in business, is remarkable. There are plenty of good reasons why it should have a large majority of the economical buyers as its customers. First--THE LEADER carries the stock that has not its equal in Southern Wisconsin for variety or quality. Second--Its prices on goods of every description are lower by half than than any other dealer's in this section of the country. THE LEADER discounts every bill and secures the very lowest figures obtainable on all commodities, and it sells articles for what other stores pay for them. Third--THE LEADER has a business principle that wins friends for it with each transaction no matter how small it may be; it treats everybody alike, does not take advantage of anyone, does not make one price to one person and another to the next. A child can get the same courteous treatment in its one-cent purchases as the older person with his $25 or $50 investments. THE LEADER is a department store; it sells everything and anything that is of use to the human family; its stock is increasing every day, new lines are being added constantly, and every new idea that can be thought of in connection with THE LEADER'S popularity with the public is being acted upon. Our store is always crowded; you wonder why? If you have a purchase to make and come to us for it you won't remain puzzled long. A guaranteed saving of 25 to 50 per cent. on all lines; its low prices and reliable goods make lively purchasing.

EVERYTHING THAT IS MADE IN

Tinware, Graniteware, Agateware, Hollow-Ware, Steelware, Kitchen Utensils, Hardware, Willow-Ware, Woodenware, Etc.,

We sell at half the price of other dealers. Our CROCKERY and GLASSWARE department is worthy of especial notice. We import direct from England and France the daintiest goods imaginable--the prettiest pieces and sets of dishes, and at the lowest prices Janesville ever saw. You can buy Jewelry, Watches, Cutlery, Carving Sets, Toilet Articles, Albums, Dolls, Trunks and Satchels, Telescopes,--anything and everything you want, and at just half the price of other stores.

...THE STOVE YOU BUY...

Must be a good one. SUNSHINE STOVES AND RANGES are the best. A written guarantee with every one; over 75 different patterns, from $2.50 up. We sell you a heating or a cooking Stove 35 to 45 per cent. cheaper than you have been in the habit of paying; a man of lifelong hardware and stove experience in charge of the department--Mr. Adam Sanner; he sees personally to every Stove, to setting up all stoves and looking after all details. The easiest way to be convinced of any matter is to come in personal contact with it; that's what what we want you to do in THE LEADER'S case--come and see for yourself, get acquainted with facts; take nobody's word, get our prices, see our goods and you will know then how truthful every statement we have made is. We welcome you, buy or not as you please.
